Phillip Malanchuk Laid To Rest

The Anglican Church in Coleman was filled to capacity Monday afternoon, December 29, when the many friends of the late Phillip Malanchuk gathered to attend services. The service was preached by the Rev. Roger Burton of Pincher Creek, after which the cortege proceeded to the United cemetery where following a service by Rev. Burton, the Coleman Elks Lodge paid their respects.

Hall's Funeral Service Ltd. of Blairmore, were in charge of the arrangements.

Mr. Malanchuk's body was recovered on December 26th after being buried under a slide of rock on the Grassy Mountain strip of the West Canadian Collieries mine on the afternoon of December 18. Recovery of the body necessitated the Company bringing in heavy equipment to dig a 50-foot wide and some 25-foot deep funnel shaped hole. Crews worked under the clock under extremely adverse conditions and weather.

Mr. Malanchuk, 49 years of age, was born in the Ukraine and came to Canada, settling in Coleman in 1921.

He attended school in Coleman and for several years worked for D'Appollonia Construction. Later he worked for the Tent Mountain strip mine of the Coleman Collieries and for the past two years had worked as a truck driver for Danny's Trucking in Blairmore.

He was a member of the Coleman Elks Lodge, and the Workers' Benevolent Association.

50 Below Weather Hits the Pass

Temperatures in the Crows Nest Pass plunged to the season's lowest point January 3rd when the mercury registered fifty below zero at Blairmore and a few degrees lower at other points in the Pass.

The extreme cold wave saw numerous cars in the district frozen solid and as a result garages in the district did a booming business. A heavy fog filled with shimmering ice crystals was in evidence all over the Pass during the early hours of Saturday morning and caked snow on the roads and homes cracked under the strain of the intense frost. Town work crews in the Pass were kept busy Saturday thawing out frozen water lines in homes all around the Pass.

The extremely cold weather followed a warm Chinook during the week which saw temperatures up around the fifty-five mark and warm rains, was felt severely by residents here.

Despite the biting cold, clear blue skies and sunny weather drew youngsters and some ski fans to the neighboring mountains to enjoy an afternoon of skiing and tobogganing in the brisk air. Some twelve inches of fresh snow fell here on New Year's night.

A reporter interviewed a lady on her golden wedding anniversary. "Well," she said, "during those fifty years I never once thought of divorce, only murder!"

Willow Valley Trophy Club to Hold Judging Day

The Willow Valley Trophy Club have this week announced that the annual Big Game Judging Day will be held in the Lundbreck Community hall on January 10th.

Trophies for big game heads will be awarded to those who show the largest heads in sheep, goat, elk, moose and deer according to the Boone and Crockett scoring charts.

Deadline for entries has been set at 1 p.m. January 10th, and if brought in later than this the club have stated they will not guarantee that the heads will be scored.

In past years the club has had poor co-operation from the hunters as heads were not left at the depots set out by the club executive. By failing to do this, the sport men have put the club to a great deal of trouble as with the many entries the judges have had to rush through the scoring and have not had time to enjoy the event.

This year the club have requested that hunters please leave their heads at the suggested depots, where the club will pick them up in good time and have time to judge each entry fairly.

Trucks have been arranged for to pick up the heads. Depots have been set up at Wilhans Garage, at Lundbreck; Cowley Farm Equipment, McNab and Cleland International dealers, Pincher Creek; Jerry's Sport Shop, Bellevue; and Rudy's Sport Shop, Coleman; R. E. Quick at Port Macleod.

Heads may be left at the depots up to January 7th at 1 p.m. Each head must have its proper tag, name of owner, and date the animal was shot. Larger heads will have their measurements forwarded to New York to the Boone and Crockett Club.

The club have again announced that old heads regardless of the date they were killed, or by whom, are eligible for the Grand Champion trophy. To be eligible for any of the trophies with the exception of the Grand Champion, a person must become a member of the club on or before the big game season opened. For the Grand Champion trophy persons may join at any time.

The club will also award trophies for the largest fish of various species caught during the year.

For the annual judging day the executive have also arranged a program of entertainment to members and visitors are invited to bring their families to enjoy the day.

For the occasion lunch will be served by the ladies of St. Martin's Church and tickets will be available at the door.

Two friends went on a fishing trip and got lost. A reporter questioned the one who was found and still showing the effects of a man-sized bender:

"Could you give me Jim's last name, please?"
"Jim who?"

The three Edmonton men named to a judging committee to select prize winning entries from among the more than 600 sketch plans submitted for designs for the Senator Citizens' Home, are shown discussing some of the proposals sent the government.

Ronald Clarke, former chief architect with the Alberta Department of Public Works; Elmer E. Roper, Edmonton business man, president of the Edmonton Community Chest, and member of the board of the Beniah Home; and Merle D. Mutart, Edmonton builder and construction firm head, are examining some of the submissions with the Hon. R. D. Jorgenson, second from left, Minister of Public Welfare, under whom the program will operate. A first prize of $5,000; second prize of $2,500; third prize of $1,000 and fourth award of $500, as well as ten prizes of $100 each, will be made at the conclusion of judging the entries.

Ideas and features for which awards will be made will be included in the final plans for the homes. The 50 person residences will be erected at fifty rural points in Alberta, and special residences of 800 person capacity will cost about $2,000,000 each and will be built and furnished by the Alberta government before being turned over to the responsible sponsoring municipalities, without cost, for their administration.

Of Many Things 'Your New Year'

(By Ambrose Hills)

When I tried to think of the most inspiring thought I could pass on to you for the New Year, I recalled a sermon once preached by a minister in a very small town.

He was an old man, this minister, and very seldom scored a hit with his sermons, but on this occasion he said something so inspiring and so obviously from the bottom of his heart, that it worked a dramatic change in the lives of many of his parishioners.

Out of his own disillusionment, common to all who let events and circumstances run them, he had a message it took courage to deliver.

"I know," said the elderly minister, "that many of you here feel you are too old now to start a new and important life, and that there are also many of you who feel you are quite young yet, and that there is plenty of time for something very good to happen to you. I want to say gently but firmly that you are both very wrong. The time of salvation is NOW, whether you are old or young."

"You can live an important life starting NOW. Remember, just as you can get nothing free, you cannot perform well without getting paid. Nothing is wasted. For good performance, your reward is certain, unfailing. So start, NOW, this very minute, to live at your best, stand straighter, think more clearly, look your best, talk your best, be your best, in the sure knowledge that you will be rewarded — it cannot fail. You will get what you deserve in this New Year just as you have always gotten what you have deserved — nothing less, nothing more — in the years that have gone by. I tell you this from my own experience, and it has cost me something in soul-searching to say it to you."

"I pray that you accept it as the truth, and profit by it. You can make the coming year important for yourself, and for all who depend on you."

OF MANY THINGS Competition Overdue

(By Ambrose Hills)

Because of a heavy work schedule, I was told by the travel agent that I'd better fly if I wanted to get home in time to keep up to dead lines. He booked up through TCA.

When I returned home I had a credit on an unused portion of my ticket, so I went over to the TCA office in Winnipeg to collect.

I stood in a line where a girl was serving other customers.

However, when I finally reached the head of the line, the young lady looked at me coldly and said "See one of the other girls, please."

I assumed that she had noted, by looking at the ticket in my hand that it was a matter of rebate and that she didn't handle that type of business. So, in a docile mood, I went to another line, to wait my turn.

In a few moments I was surprised to see the young lady who had looked at me so coldly go smiling by, and one of the girls I was waiting to see, smiled back. "See you after coffee," she said.

If she had snuck out quietly, I might not have been so annoyed. But to deliberately turn away from a customer and boldly walk out for coffee was too much for me. I can just imagine how long a writer would last if he took that cavalier attitude towards an editor!

Yet TCA's salespeople can get away with it — because they have a monopoly. If I fly that trip again I must fly TCA. There is no competition.

I came back to my typewriter determined to write a letter to the president of TCA and give him a piece of my mind. I feel sure that in due course I would have received a letter telling me of the staff problems confronting them, and of their earnest desire to give good service. That, however, would not have satisfied me.

In my opinion, the only way the customer can assert himself effectively is to change or threaten to change to a competitor. That's how I got service elsewhere.

I hope that in the not too distant future I'll be able to have a choice when I fly.

I'm not fond of flying at the best of times. Certainly, I'm not going to fly again in a hurry if I can possibly help it. I'll go to quite a bit of trouble to avoid it.

Perhaps many men feel the same way. Perhaps that's the reason TCA claims that it can't stand competition.

National Health Week Set For Feb. 1

Dates for National Health Week, 1959, have been set for the first week in February, and will run from February 1st to 7th inclusive, according to officials of the Health League of Canada, sponsors of the event for the past 15 years.

National Health Week, which has enjoyed the full co-operation of Departments of Health and Education from coast to coast, was created to acquaint each Canadian on ways and means of keeping himself and his family healthy, and of the vast importance of doing so.

"While health is a matter of individual concern, it is the sum total of individual health which makes up the health of the whole country," commented Dr. Gordon Bates, General Director of League. "Canadians spend over 900 million dollars a year on medical and dental care, and this of a purely curative nature. If we were to wipe out all illness, or even a portion of it, the financial gains to Canada would be staggering," he said.

He pointed out that this view of the importance of health to a nation is not a new one. Benjamin Disraeli, the British statesman said in the 1800's that "The health of the people is really the foundation upon which all their happiness and all their powers as a state depend."

"Each person can do a great deal towards preventing illness in his own home," said Dr. Bates. "It is commonplace to note the man of the house outside polishing his car in the driveway, and going over the motor to see that the vehicle is kept in perfect running condition."

"It is not equally commonplace to see that same man in the doctor's office having a check-up to see that he himself is in good running condition. Surely the health of a man and his family is of at least equal importance to his motor car!"

He concluded by stating that health is important during the whole year, and not only during National Health Week.

Trans-Canada Highway Picnic, Camp-sites Program Announced

A British Columbia - inspired idea for a chain of Trans-Canada camping parks and roadside parks has snowballed into a major undertaking of the Federal government.

Recreation and Conservation Minister Earle C. Westwood returned from Ottawa recently after attending meetings with Northern Affairs Minister Alvin Hamilton, and representatives of the other provinces, and he reports the Federal government will spend $270,000 in British Columbia in the construction of seven camp-sites and 13 picnic areas along Trans-Canada Highway during the next two years.

"The federal program, suggested jointly by Alberta and ourselves last year, will see a chain of camp-sites spaced about 100 miles apart across the country and picnic grounds spaced at least every 50 miles. Two million dollars of federal funds will be allocated on a Trans-Canada Highway provincial mileage basis and our share will be approximately $270,000," Mr. Westwood said. "I am very proud to say that our Parks Branch contributed the basic planning for the project and Mr. Hamilton was loud in his praise of our efforts."

"While design for the camping parks will follow closely the style common in British Columbia with 50 units on a minimum of 15 acres, the design will have a distinctive local provincial flavor. Picnic sites, or roadside parks as they will be called, will have ten tables and space for fifteen cars. It is hoped that when the Trans-Canada Highway is completed it will be possible for travellers to have camp accommodation from coast to coast as well as highway rest stops. These are essential as aids to safe driving by helping eliminate driver fatigue," Mr. Westwood said.

The camp-site areas will be as close to the highway as possible but they may be located at a maximum of 15 miles from it, depending on local conditions. It is expected that on the Trans-continental road there will be 50 camp-sites and 94 picnic areas in all.

The idea for such a camping chain came from a joint federal and provincial meeting held in Ottawa in 1957. At that time Dr. D. B. Turner, Deputy Minister of Recreation and Conservation, asked that consideration be given to such an idea. His suggestion was endorsed by the Alberta delegation and it received enthusiastic support from other delegates.

The Federal government promised action on it and the announcement of the federal aid is a direct result of the joint British Columbia-Alberta resolution.

Coleman Girl Wed In Medicine Hat

St. Patrick's Church in Medicine Hat was the scene of a pretty double ring wedding last month when Irene Amelia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Michalski of Coleman, exchanged vows with Adolph Thome, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Thome of Medicine Hat.

The wedding Mass was celebrated by Monsignor E. J. McCoy. Music was played by Mrs. J. Merrick while soloist was Mrs. J. Sexton.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a floor length gown of chantilly lace and nylon net which featured a lace bodice with scalloped neckline, edged with seed pearls and iridescent sequins,illy point sleeves and bouffant skirt with tiered lace back interest. A jewel encrusted capelet held in place her chapel veil of net edged with lace and she carried a bouquet of red roses and white carnations and rosebuds entwined with white satin streamers. Her jewellery comprised a rhinestone necklace and matching heart-shaped ear-rings.

Attending the bride were Miss Hazel Michalski, Mrs. Emma Antonluk and Mrs. Beatrice Zubot, who wore waist-length gowns of pink, blue and yellow taffeta and lace with feather headpieces and matching accessories. They carried bouquets of carnations.

Attending the groom were Eugene Herle, Stan Antonluk and Carl Zubot.

A reception was held in the Medicine Hat golf club where 175 guests attended. Toast to the bride was proposed by Eugene Herle of Moose Jaw, Sask., and responded to by the groom.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Michalski wore a blue sheath ensemble with winter white hat and accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. The groom's mother wore a royal blue lace sheath dress with accessories to match and a corsage of pink carnations.

After enjoying a honeymoon trip to Calgary the couple took up residence in Medicine Hat, where the groom is employed.

Tasty dish

The following recipe gives a tender and delicious cheese-loaf that's handy to have on hand when the weather puts an edge on appetites. The mustard flavored cheese filling in this loaf provides an interesting flavor accent for a savory or fruit salad. The sliced loaf is delicious also when served plain with tea or coffee or spread with your favorite jam or marmalade.

Cheese Salad Ring

Yield—One Large Ring.

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup milk
2 tablespoons granulated sugar
1 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons shortening
1 cup lightly packed shredded process cheese
2 tablespoons of butter or margarine

1 tablespoon water.
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup lukewarm water
1 teaspoon granulated sugar
1 envelope active dry yeast
2 $\frac{1}{2}$ cups (about) once-sifted all-purpose flour

Scald milk; stir in the 2 tablespoons sugar, salt and shortening. Cool to lukewarm.

Meanwhile, measure lukewarm water into a large bowl; stir in the 1 teaspoon of sugar. Sprinkle with yeast. Let stand 10 minutes, then stir well. Stir in lukewarm milk mixture and $\frac{1}{2}$ cups of the flour; beat until smooth and elastic. Stir in sufficient additional flour to make a soft dough — about 1 cup more.

Turn out on floured board or canvas and kneed until smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl. Grease top. Cover. Let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk—about 1 hour.

While dough is rising, prepare shredded cheese. Cream butter or margarine until soft and blend in mustard.

Punch down dough. Turn out on lightly floured board or canvas and kneed until smooth. Roll out into a rectangle 10 by 16 inches. Spread dough with mustard butter and sprinkle with shredded cheese. Beginning at a 16-inch edge roll up dough jelly-roll fashion. Shape into a ring on a greased cookie sheet; join and seal ends together. Grease top. Cover. Let rise in a warm place free from draft, until doubled in bulk—about 45 minutes. Brush ring with a mixture of egg yolk or white and the 1 tablespoon water. Bake in moderately hot oven (375 deg. F.) 30 to 35 minutes.

Full of Flavor

Muffins that capture the delightful flavor of ripe bananas are a treat that's sure to be appreciated any hour of the day. These light and tender muffins are the ideal complement to a fruit salad at luncheon and they team equally well with a beverage for the dessert course at meal time. Like all muffins, they are at their best served warm—they are delightful fresh from the oven or re-heated at serving time.

Banana Muffins

1 $\frac{1}{2}$ cups once sifted all purpose flour
or 2 cups once sifted pastry flour

3 teaspoons baking powder
 $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon baking soda
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt
 $\frac{2}{3}$ cup lightly packed brown sugar

1 well beaten egg
1 cup mashed ripe banana
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup shortening, melted.

Grease 12 muffin cups or line with paper cups. Preheat oven to 400 deg. F. (hot). Sift the all purpose flour or pastry flour, baking powder, baking soda and salt together twice, then sift into a bowl. Mix in brown sugar.

Combine well beaten egg, mashed banana, vanilla and melted shortening. Add to dry ingredients and mix lightly. Two-thirds fill prepared muffin cups. Bake in preheated oven about 20 minutes.

Serve hot or re-heated with butter or margarine.

One of the local citizens took a short fishing holiday. He caught a big one, off Kaslo. He was so excited he phoned his wife.

"I've got one. Weighs eight lbs. and it is a beauty."

She replied: "So have I. —It weighs nine pounds. No beauty.—Looks like you!"

Large Window Areas Provide Excellent Natural Lighting

Architect Roy Sellers, of Winnipeg, Man., has provided large window areas in this three-bedroom, brick veneer house to ensure a bright and cheerful atmosphere. The well-protected front entrance opens into a hall which leads directly to all other parts of the house as well as the garage.

A highlight of the upstairs plan is the large master bedroom which runs the complete length of the house and has cross ventilation. Open planning on the ground floor ensures a spacious living area. This house should be built so that the blank gable end wall faces to the north.

The total floor area is 1,352 square feet, excluding garage, and the exterior dimensions are 43 feet, four inches by 37 feet, five inches, including garage. Working drawings for this house, known as design 514, are available from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation at minimum cost.
